Sponsorship Opportunity: Women in Numbers Membership

Dear [Manager Name],

I hope you're doing well! I recently discovered Women in Numbers, a not-for-profit initiative that helps Australian women grow their investment knowledge and financial confidence. I'm especially excited about its range of events and mentorship opportunities that align perfectly with our team's commitment to professional development.

I'd love to explore employer sponsorship for a WIN membership. This would give me access to exclusive workshops, curated content, and networking sessions—knowledge I can bring back to the workplace and share with our team. If you'd like to learn more or discuss the potential benefits, I'm happy to set up a short meeting at your convenience.

Thank you for considering this opportunity. I believe it could be an excellent way for our company to foster a culture of ongoing learning and further promote women's financial empowerment.

Warm regards,

[Your Name]

Let's Join Women in Numbers Together!

Hello [Friend/Colleague Name],

I've been looking into Women in Numbers and am excited about their mission to elevate women's roles in investing. They run regular events, socials, and mentorship programs—perfect for anyone wanting to grow financial skills and confidence.

I thought this might be something you'd enjoy, too. Would you be interested in learning more and possibly signing up with me? We can attend an upcoming Mingle & Momentum session or explore the Content Library together.

Let me know what you think. I'd love to embark on this journey side-by-side!

Best,

[Your Name]
